Logan Smedley Municipal Police Academy

Logan Smedley of Watsontown, PA, exemplifies Commonwealth University’s immediate impact in addressing Pennsylvania’s urgent workforce needs.

This past November, Smedley completed the intensive Act 120 training at CU’s Municipal Police Academy in Mansfield. He was one of several cadets who received an employment offer before graduating from the Police Academy and is now a full-time officer with the Wellsboro Police Department.

“It was probably one of the best experiences of my life. To be honest, the effort and passion that all of our instructors put into teaching us was incredible,” said Smedley.

Commonwealth University is the only institution in Pennsylvania that integrates a Police Academy into its academic curriculum. Students at the Bloomsburg, Lock Haven, and Mansfield campuses of CU can earn either an associate or bachelor’s degree in criminal justice while also completing the Act 120 requirements to become municipal police officers.
